An overcast morning soon became a scorching hot day on campus in the south of Los Angeles, as thousands of fans of punk, rock, hardcore, ska, hip hop, metal, and more kicked up some dust at Cal State Dominguez Hills in Carson, California.

More than 60 bands played across seven stages (plus acoustic sets aplenty away from the stages), providing more than nine hours of non-stop music from the likes of Gym Class Heroes, Of Mice & Men, Sum 41, The Devil Wears Prada, The Expendables, Bad

Rabbit, Sharks, Enter Shikari, Every Avenue, Attack Attack, The Black Pacific and many, many more.

If you needed a moment out of the sun, vendors gave you plenty to buy, brands gave you plenty to consider, and skaters gave you plenty of fearlessness to be impressed by. Parents were banished to reverse daycare, beers were consumed in a fenced in pen, and all was done to make a massive-scale event just as all-ages friendly as it could be.
